

Using Your Digital Identity

Connecting to Others

In addition to storing your important records, Hawiyatii also allows you to connect with members of your network, including your family members, friends, colleagues, and business partners. To connect with a contact on the Hawiyatii platform, simply use the Hawiyatii search function to find your contact and send a request to connect.

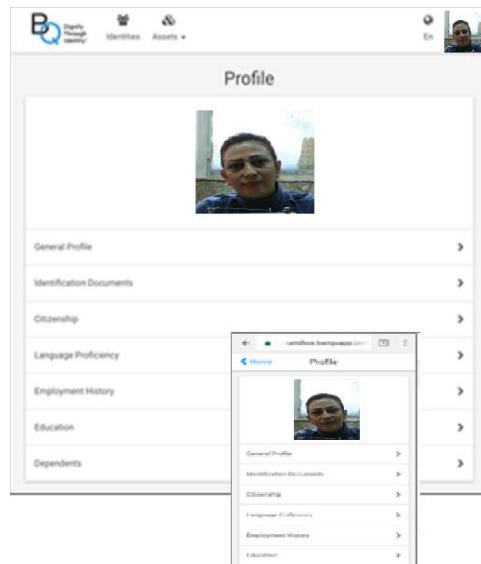

To share your profile with individuals not enrolled on Hawiyatii, simply invite them to join the platform!

Verifying Information

Besides uploading your own information, important records can be verified by a third party. For example, MFW can document the final repayment of your loan, or IRC can upload a document showing the successful completion of their training program. You can also seek confirmation from employers that you worked for them, providing an employment record for the future.

What is Hawiyatii?

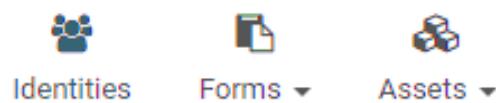

Hawiyatii is a personal Digital Identity that allows you to securely store and access your most important records, such as your identification documents, your Microfund for Women credit history, your employment history, and your education and training certificates, wherever you go – back to Syria, somewhere else in Jordan, or another country.

Besides having a permanent, secure and portable record of your accomplishments and documents, you can easily give others permission to view your information as a means to prove your identity and qualifications. These could include microfinance institutions interested in your credit history, employers interested in your employment history or government and NGO service providers providing assistance. Or keep the information private, as records simply for you and to serve as a backup if you lose your hard copies – it's up to you!

Hawiyatii can be accessed from any phone, tablet or computer. It is a service provided in partnership with Microfund for Women (MFW), the International Rescue Committee (IRC), and Making Cents International.

How Can I Sign Up?

Your Hawiyatii profile can be created by MFW or IRC. During the initial testing phase, it is only open to those who are current borrowers of MFW or participating in the IRC Entrepreneurship Training program. The service is provided for free.

Building Your Hawiyatii Profile

After creating a Hawiyatii account, build out your Digital Identity profile by adding information and uploading documents for these identify categories:

- Citizenship and identification
- Language proficiency
- Employment history
- Education
- Family information
- Medical records
- Other records

For example, upload a copy of your Syrian family book, your university degree, and vaccination record to Hawiyatii!

Setting Viewing Permissions

With Hawiyatii, you control who accesses the information on your identity. You can opt to share parts, or all your information, with all of your connections. Or, give a specific connection permission to access specific information on your profile, and easily revoke the permission any time.

You can also easily request permission to view your connections' information. If your connection accepts this request, you can see their information.
